This guide will answer all of your questions and more. We'll cover everything from choosing the right school to packing for the dorms. We'll also provide tips on how to help your child succeed in college and how to finance their education.

Choosing the Right School

The first step in sending your millennial to college is choosing the right school. There are many factors to consider when making this decision, including:

- Your child's academic interests
- Your child's extracurricular activities
- The size of the school
- The location of the school
- The cost of the school

It's important to visit several schools with your child before making a decision. This will give them a chance to see the campus, meet the faculty and students, and get a feel for the school's atmosphere.

Packing for the Dorms

Once you've chosen a school, it's time to start packing for the dorms. Here's a list of essential items to bring:

- Bedding (sheets, blankets, pillows)
- Towels
- Toiletries
- Clothing
- Shoes
- School supplies
- Electronics (laptop, phone, etc.)
- Money

- Important documents (ID, passport, insurance card)

It's also important to leave some space in your child's luggage for items they may want to buy once they get to school. such as:

- Decorations for their dorm room
- Snacks
- Toiletries
- Clothing

Helping Your Child Succeed in College

Once your child is settled into college, you can start to help them succeed academically and socially.

Here are a few tips:

- Encourage them to get involved in extracurricular activities.
- Help them set realistic goals.
- Provide them with support and encouragement.
- Stay in touch with their teachers and advisors.

It's also important to remember that college is a time of growth and change. Your child may not always make the best choices. But if you provide them with support and guidance, they'll be more likely to succeed.

Financing Your Child's Education

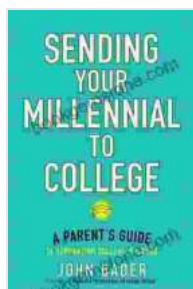

College is expensive. But there are many ways to finance your child's education.

Here are a few options:

- Scholarships
- Grants
- Student loans
- Work-study
- 529 plans

It's important to start saving for college early. The more money you can save, the less you'll have to borrow.

Sending your millennial to college is a big step. But it's also an exciting one. By following the tips in this guide, you can help your child succeed in college and achieve their dreams.
