Sydney Rye is a private investigator with a troubled past. She's haunted by the memories of her childhood, and she's struggling to make ends meet. But when she's hired to find a missing person, she sees a chance to redemption.

The missing person is a young woman named Sarah Jones. She was last seen leaving a bar with a group of friends. But her friends claim that she never made it home.

Sydney and her loyal dog, Justice, start their investigation by talking to Sarah's friends and family. But they soon realize that no one is telling them the whole truth.

As Sydney and Justice dig deeper, they uncover a web of lies and deceit. They learn that Sarah was involved in a dangerous relationship with a powerful man. And they realize that she may have been killed to keep her quiet.

Sydney and Justice are determined to find Sarah's killer, but they know that it will be a dangerous journey. They're going up against powerful people who will stop at nothing to protect their secrets.

But Sydney and Justice are not afraid. They're determined to bring justice to Sarah and her family. And they're willing to risk their own lives to do it.
